

EXHIBIT 10

In a document dated 10 December 2003, the following events were noted:

- (1). 052 then stated he has not consumed any meals for three days and felt weak. He then said he would not speak any more because he needed to save his strength of prayers. The Interrogator then explained that if he refused to eat, the Brig would be compelled to "force-feed" him. The Interrogator commented that the procedure is unpleasant and he will not enjoy the experience. The Interrogator then added: "for your sake, I hope you do not go through it." 052 replied that as a Muslim, he cannot cause harm to himself and will eat the next day. 052 stated that the reason for his "hunger-strike" was to protest having his rights withheld—the right to a Koran and a clock for prayer time, as well as a mattress and the Brig's "shortchanging" and pilfering of his food.
- (2). 052 then commenced to minimize the Interrogator by praying. When asked what he was praying for, 052 said two prayers—one the Interrogator did not need to know, the other was for Allah's wrath on those who arrested him and are responsible for his detainment.
- (3). The Interrogator then asked 052 what will it take for him to talk. First, 052 said, the Interrogator had to give him his Koran. Then in six months, 052 will talk. The reason for the six-month delay is because 052 has not had his Koran for that length of period. If the Interrogator waits another month, then it will be seven months before he begins talking. The Interrogator then inquired what 052 would be willing to talk about? 052 stated that he'll only talk about religion, politics, and sports. After stating that, 052 began to pray again. He then slouched over and buried his head in his hands. As the Interrogator left, he put his hand on 052's shoulder before departing. 052 stayed slouching, as if fainting weakness.
- (4). After the Interrogator left, 052 continued with the theatrics of being tired and weak from lack of nutrition. After he heard all the security doors had opened and closed—meaning the Interrogator has left the area, he then stood up—rather energetically--and looked at himself in the reflection of the interview rooms' one-way windows, to see his new haircut and shave.
- (5). After the interrogation, we observed 052 from SHU Control being served his dinner (a chicken dinner with multiple side dishes). As he received his tray, he yelled to the guard: "You did not give me a sandwich." 052 then proceeded to wash himself and pray. In between prayers, 052 hydrated himself frequently.
